CATALOGUE OF BOOKS

FOR THE YEAR

MDCCCXXXIV,

ON SALE AT THE PRICES AFFIXED, BY

THOMAS RODD,

No. 2, GREAT NEWPORT STREET.

"I no sooner come into the Library, but I bolt the door, to me excluding lust, ambition, avarice, and all such vices, whose nurse is idleness, the mother of ignorance, and melancholy her self; and in the very lap of eternity, amongst so many divine souls, I take my seat with so lofty a spirit and sweet content, that I pity all our great ones, and rich men, that know not this happiness."—HEINSIUS, quoted by BURTON.

Give me leave
To enjoy myself: that place that does contain
My BOOKS, the best companions, is to me
A glorious court, where hourly I converse
With the old sages and philosophers;
And sometimes for variety, I confer
With kings and emperors, and weigh their counsels;
Calling their victories, if unjustly got,
Unto a strict account, and, in my fancy,
Deface their ill-placed statues. Can I then
Part with such constant pleasures, to embrace
Uncertain vanities? No! be it your care
To augment a heap of wealth; it shall be mine
To increase in knowledge. FLETCHER.

Price Four Shillings—Allowed to Purchasers.

 "There are seven confessions of the Helvetic Faith.—The third, which is principally considered and generally styled 'the Helvetic confession of faith,' is the 'Confessio,' &c. It was composed in 1566 by Bullinger, under the particular direction of the Elector Palatine. It is greatly esteemed by all the Reformed Churches, and is particularly curious, from its generally expressing the Zuinglian creed before it was newly modelled by Calvin."—C. Butler.

 After having spoken so freely of Mr. Locke's divinity, which I once so highly esteemed, it seems but just to acknowledge the vast obligation which the whole religious world is under to that great man for his 'Letters concerning Toleration,' and his answers to those who wrote against them. The grounds of religious liberty, and the reasons why every one should be left to his own choice to worship God according to his conscience, were, perhaps, never generally understood since the foundation of the world; till by these publications Mr. Locke unanswerably made them manifest."—Scott of Sandford.

Privately printed at the expense of the late Duchess of Devonshire, for presents to her particular friends. From the circumstance of several of the plates not having been engraved till some years after the book was printed, most of the copies are deficient in point of number: the present copy wants fourteen. The plates consist of very beautiful line engravings of the scenery described in the Poem.

 An Historical Poem detailing the adventures of a Burgundian Knight, who flourished in the fifteenth century, and travelled through Europe, challenging and encountering the most celebrated Knights of each country. Having heard of the celebrity of James Earl of Douglas, he sent a herald to Scotland to challenge him to an encounter in the lists, which Douglas accepting, he made a voyage to Scotland, and they fought at Stirling, before the King, three against three. The details of this combat occupy one entire canto, which is accompanied by an illustrative engraving.

" Ce beau combat estoit
D'espée, de poignart, de hache, aussi de lance ;
Tant et si longuement que jusques a outrance."

 "Speculum Regale est liber scriptus a quodam Regis primi ordinis in Norvegia, velut instructio vitæ nobilium, in usum unici sui filii. Prologus quatuor partis promittit de, quatuor vitæ generibus, Mercatorum, Aulæ, Cleri et Ruricolarum, quarum duæ tantum priores supersunt, reliquiæ, si unquam conscriptæ, intercidere. Prima pars continet mores et prudentiam mercatorum, eorumque requisita Astronomiam rosa nautica nondum inventa necessarium, descriptionem ventorum et tempestatum stylo gentium orientalium more admodum sublimi; descriptionem Hiberniæ Islandice et Grondlandiæ mirabilium, cui præmittitur apologia libri cujusdam de mirabilibus Indiæ, cum iis æquae mirabilia Norvegiæ comparando, cursum sc. per xylosoleas, vim petrificam paludis Birkadalensis, et noctes diesque plures simul continuat. "Hiberniæ descriptio maximam partem fabulosa est, de felicitate coeli et soli, de terræ sanctitati tam quod ad imunitatem ab animalibus vene-

12363 BAZILIωLOGIA. A Booke of Kings. Being the true and lively Effigies of all our English Kings from the Conquest untill this present; With their severall Coats of Armes, Impreses and Devises: And a briefe Chronologie of their lives and deaths. Elegantly graven in Copper. Printed for H. Holland, and are to be sold by Comp: Holland over against the exchange. Engraved Title, containing Portraits of James I and his Queen, Ann of Denmark by Elstracke, and twenty-seven Portraits by Elstracke, Passe, and Delaram, £12 . fol. 1618

 The above is an exact transcript of the title of a book of great celebrity from its excessive rarity and the high price it has produced when sold in detail as seperate portraits, copies having produced from five hundred to six hundred pounds, when disposed of in that manner by public sale.

This present copy, containing so much of the book as is constituted by the set of kings, is bound with a quantity of paper on which is written Historical Extracts and Memoranda relating to English History, in a hand of the time of Charles I. Unfortunately, the writer has not confined himself to the additional paper, but has extended his writing over the backs of the portraits, and in some instances to the margin. To the set of kings were added portraits of several of the contemporaneous monarchs, of many of the nobility, gentry, and remarkable persons of the time. The volume being unaccompanied by letter-press, no two copies have been found to correspond in their contents, being probably made up to suit the fancy of the purchaser, or containing so many portraits as were already engraved at the time the purchase was made.

The set of Kings possesses considerable interest, from being the first copper-plate Portraits of the English Monarchs; and it may furnish a source of amusement to any person who has taste and leisure to pursue the enquiry, to establish the degree of authenticity which is due to them individually, by tracing the sources whence they are drawn, more particularly as they still serve, in several instances, to be considered the faithful representations of the persons whose names are attached to them.

The above is started as an object of enquiry from the accidental discovery, that two of the portraits in the set are copies of two in a set of Portraits of the Kings of Naples, engraved by Dominic Custodis, of Antwerp, in the year 1605. See No. 11403 of the present Catalogue. The portraits referred to are Stephen, which is a copy from Roger the Norman, the first in the Neapolitan set; and Richard I, which is copied from René of Anjou, the sixteenth of the same series. In both instances the copies are reversed and reduced in size, and the Artist has also altered the costume.

The Heads of the Kings, with the exception of that of William I, for which another, also copied from the set of Neapolitan kings, was substituted, were afterwards used to decorate Martin's History of England, 1628. In 1641, the engraved title was altered, and used with so many of the portraits as suited the work, in Biondi's History of the Civil Wars between the Houses of York and Lancaster; and the entire, as in Martin, were again used in 1662, in M. Stevenson's History of England.
